FOUND DEAD IN HIS CELL

Supposed Intoxication Turns Out To Be Fractured Skull.

SON OF RICH BROOKLYNITE

Police Believe Charles G. Bartsch, Jr., Picked Up Unconscious, Was Blackjacked.

Charles C. Bartsch, jr., son of rich carriage manufacturer of Brooklyn, was found station at about 8 o'clock vesterday morn ing, two hours after he had been locked up on a charge of intoxication. The cause of death was found to be cerebral hemorrage.

Three theories were advanced by the police last night after they had worked all fallen and the third and apparently the most plausible was that some one, intending to rob him, struck him a violent blow in the mouth and knocked him to the walk.

Refore Mr. Bartsch was placed in his cell Dr. Reynolds, of the Brooklyn Hospital, examined him and diagnosed his case as in toxication. He said that the cut on his ith was of no consequence.

Mr. Bartsch was thirty-six years old. He was unmarried and lived with his parents at No. 808 Sterling Place. He was employed as a bookkeeper by the Chelsea Murble Works, Manhattan, According to is mother, he returned home from bu ness as usual Friday night, gave her his wages and started out at 9 o'clock to attend a meeting of the Knights of Pythias.

So far as the police could learn yesterday, he never attended the meeting, but spent the night and early morning hours drinking in the downtown district. The last any one saw him uninjured was at 6:25 o'clock yesterday morning, when he left a saloon at Willoughby and Jay streets. Patrolman Shaughnessy, of the Adams street station, about an hour later discover d Bartsch leaning against a wall in Jay at cet, near Myrtle avenue. He was dressed in a fur coat and looked out of place in the vicinity. The officer went up to him and asked him what was the matte with him. Bartsch was unable to reply. The officer then took him to the Adam street police station, with the aid of Patrolman Barthole.

He was unable to tell his name to Lieutenant Kavanaugh, but cards in his pocket disclosed his identity. He had only 45 cents in his pockets, but he was wearing two diamond rings, valued at $150, on one hand, and a signet ring on the other. His family said he had a few dollars with him and a silver watch when he left home.

after he was examined by Reynolds, of the Brooklyn Hospital, and 'hen Doorman ell asleep apparently. Thomas O'Reilly went to arouse the prisoners at 7:45 o'clock Bartsch did not rouse up and O'Reilly, looking closer, saw that he was unconscious, and also that his mouth was bleeding. He and others carried him out and placed him on a cot and called Dr. Reynolds again, but the physiclan found him dead.

The policeman who was sent to inform the family found that Mr. Bartsch, sh., had become alarmed by the continued absence of his son, and had gone to alarm the Grand avenue police station. Coroner's Physician Hartung found later in the day that Bartsch's skull was cracked from front to rear, and also part way around,
